What is an after school Good News Club®?

Good News Club® is a fun, after-school program for kids held once a week in your school. This club is provided by CEF®, an interdenominational non-profit organization.

What does it include?

- Exciting Stories
- Bible Lessons
- Learning Activities
- Fun Games
- Treats

How can it help me?

Today young people are faced with many decisions. Pressure from friends can cause wrong choices and lead to serious trouble.

Good News Club (GNC®) helps teach children to make wise and healthy choices that will positively affect the rest of their lives.

What will be taught?

Using the Bible, we will learn how to apply good moral principles to our lives daily.

Who can attend?

Good News Club® is open to all boys and girls between the ages of five and twelve, regardless of religious background. Parents are also always welcome!

Where is the club?

The club will meet in a room at your child's school after hours.

How can I start attending?

A parent or guardian must fill out the registration form and send it to school with each child for club. Turn the registration form into your Good News Club® teacher.

Does it cost anything?

No, Good News Club® is taught freely by volunteer workers. All of our volunteers have been screened for the safety of the children. There is no cost. Just come and be ready to learn and have fun!
