

WHY ARE ALL THE BLACK KIDS SITTING TOGETHER IN THE PRINCIPAL'S OFFICE?

WITH DR. DAUDI ABE

Dr. Daudi Abe

A talk about race, punishment and how we can help all kids succeed in school.

Beginning as early as preschool, Black students are disproportionately suspended and expelled from school. As many of these students reach adulthood, these punishments can lead to legal trouble, creating what some call the "school-to-prison pipeline" that affects many Black communities.

Based on his extensive research and teaching experience, Dr. Daudi Abe demonstrates that the racial achievement gap cannot be solved without first addressing the discipline gap. Explore how all of us – citizens, educators, law enforcement, and others – can close the gap.
